

Planning for distance learning next school year?

This will help.

Education in the 2020-21 term is being defined by questions: Masks or no masks? Real classrooms or remote? Full capacity or half? Disney+ or HBO Max? Finally, there is hope.

Securly created a free guide with already proven solutions so that schools can optimize learning and student safety. The paper approaches the complexities of distance learning from several angles, making it helpful to administrators, teachers, superintendents, and parents alike.
